- Make it shorter
- I'm an Amazon FBA seller and I want to request a full refund for inventory which I believe Amazon has lost in their warehouse. I would like you to provide me with a sample email to send to them, but before I do that, ask me three questions so I can provide you with the best possible response.
- I'm an Amazon seller of used books. As part of the listing process on amazon.com, I need to provide condition notes for my used books so that customers can better understand the condition of the used books before making a purchasing decision. These condition notes are not required by amazon, but are very helpful for me as a bookseller, to list these condition notes for each book I list for sale on amazon. Amazon has four Different conditions for their used books. here they are along with guidelines for each condition: [reference the current guidelines within Seller Central - <https://amz.run/6crx>
- Make it more fun
- Explain how Amazon fees might work for an Amazon book seller using FBA
- [copy the text from a long article that you'd like summarized] summarize this - "[paste the large amount of text]"
- Give me the bullet points
- Within Airtable we want to add a margin column to my base. I have a "total buy cost" and "seller price" columns which I know should be used. I want the margin to be automatically calculated. Tell me how this can be done.

- I'm in a Facebook group for Amazon book sellers. help me understand these terms that I see all the time:
 - ROI
 - OA
 - MF
 - FBA
